Responding to feedback
Use case example

Gary has a reputation for being difficult. Through exploring his VoicePrint self-perception and 360 profiles he now understands how his intention - trying to ensure things are done well - isn't always aligning with his impact - people feeling attacked and dictated to. Working with a VoicePrint practitioner, Gary has identified alternative voices and strategies to strengthen his ability to engage others and provide clarity on what he is asking for and why.